We are living in a world marked conspicuously by batred, violence and distrust. And accordingly, sensitivity, involvement and nearness are becoming less and less of a reality. Our answers lie basically within our own capacity to shun ignorance and actively perpetuate change. And yet, our hope does not end there, for a portion of our future rests in still another part of us – the unborn child.

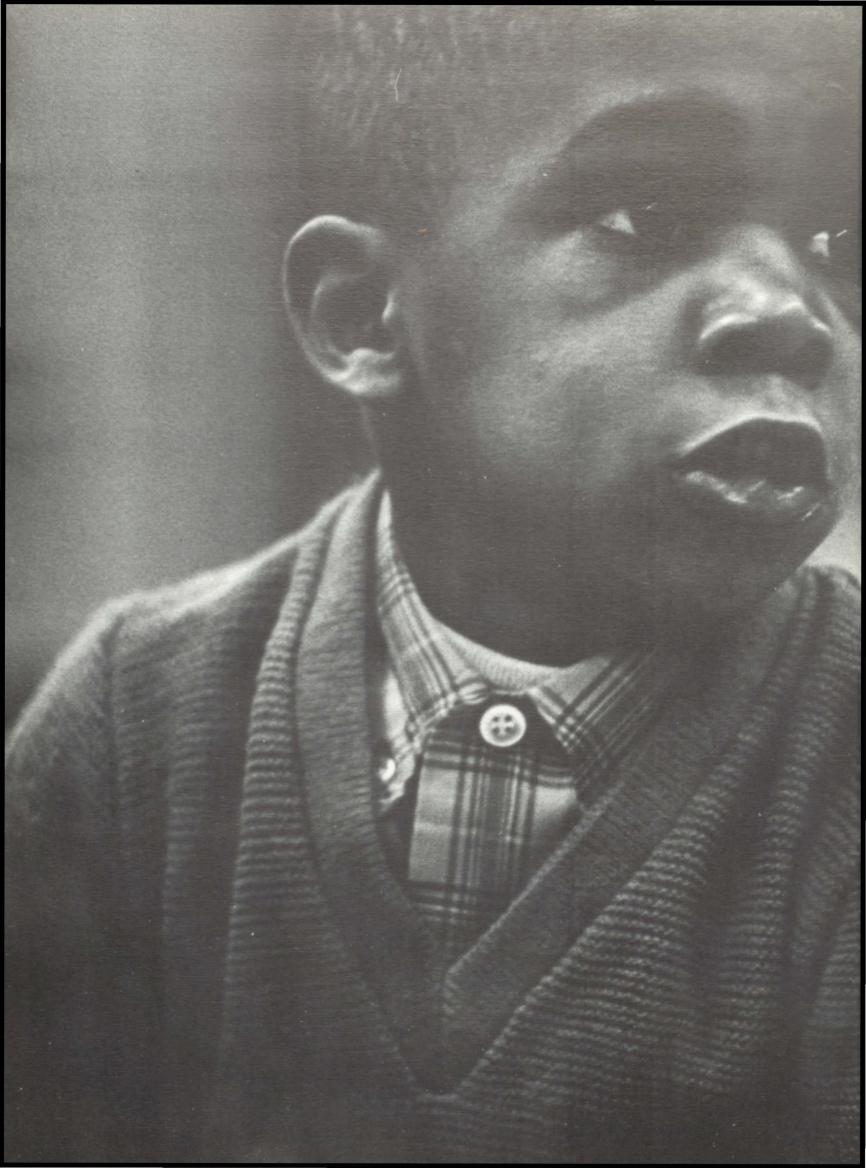

There is a child to be born.

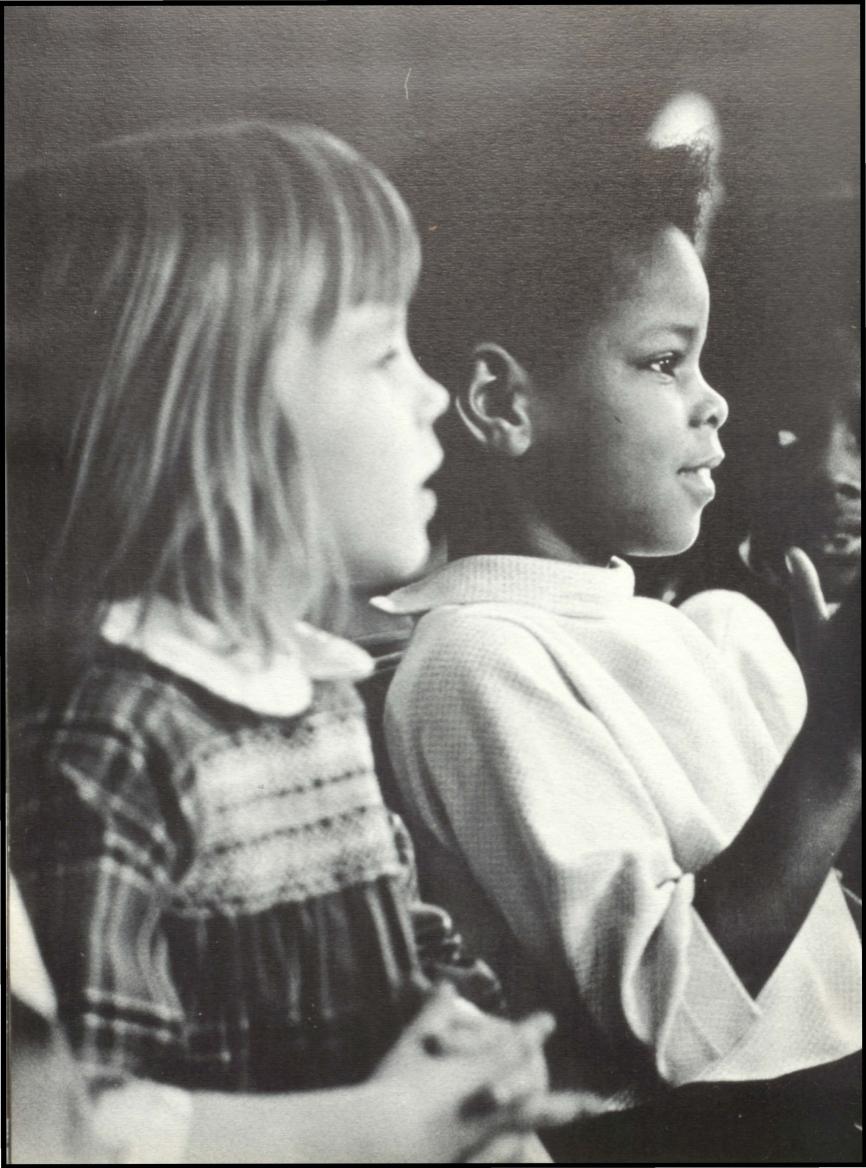

He is change renouncing falsehood and deception.

He is a warrior wrestling with our past.

He is a young man filled with peace and freedom and trust.

He is the bond linking the quiet of thought and its song.

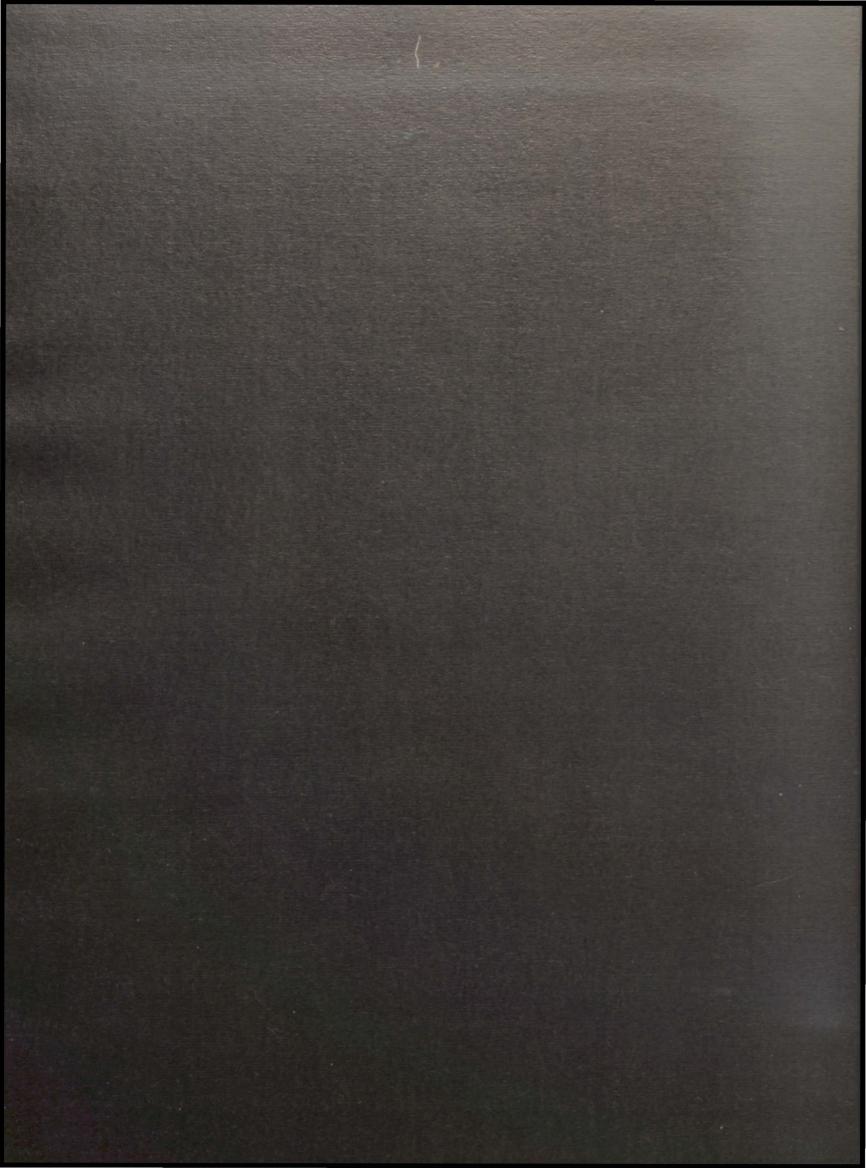

He is pride from which knowledge and understanding will grow.

There is a child to be born.

IN MEMORIAM RONALD HOLMES JULY 1968

Mr. Richard Burrer

We have become a generation of unrest:

afraid to trust in the words of a world that speaks of love,

yet lives in hatred

daring to question the values of another age willing to work to build a dream—but not knowing how to begin.

So we have turned to those who called themselves "educators"

and we cried "Teach us!"

They have accepted our challenge.

In becoming aware of ourselves we have struggled with the doubts and fears of discovery. As we have searched, they have given of their trust and respect, they have shared their wisdom, and they have led us to question. In our questioning we have often fallen, but with their experience they have helped us up. They have shown us how to learn from our failure so that we may teach others. They have helped us to grow and to realize the potential our freedom holds.

AFS CLUB

AFS is an organization which tries to further international understanding by international student exchange. This year North Haven has been lucky enough to sponsor two students' stays in this country and send one North Havener abroad for the summer. Through the dance, the townwide census, and lots of hard work by everyone, the club has nearly reached its fund-raising goal. Many thanks to Mr. Caruth for all his help.

DEBBIE DIEM

At the time I write this feature, I've been with Uncle Sam almost six months—I am halfway through with the experience with him. I have seen modern, lofty structures standing next to doomed slumhouses in big cities. I have read statistics about breath-taking U.S. economy. But I wasn't and never will be impressed by those things, simply because those are what I expected the U.S. to win. I'm not fascinated in investigating Uncle Sam physically or materially. I'm only interested in studying him spiritually. That spirit was shown when an intellectual knelt down to clean a dog's mess. I also see it in moving crowds on 3rd Avenue in New York during rush hours.

I'm very glad to find out that American Youths also have a heap of worries about themselves, about their aliened friends all over the world. That erased by misled impression that they only enjoy their speedy cars, their fancy clothes, etc.

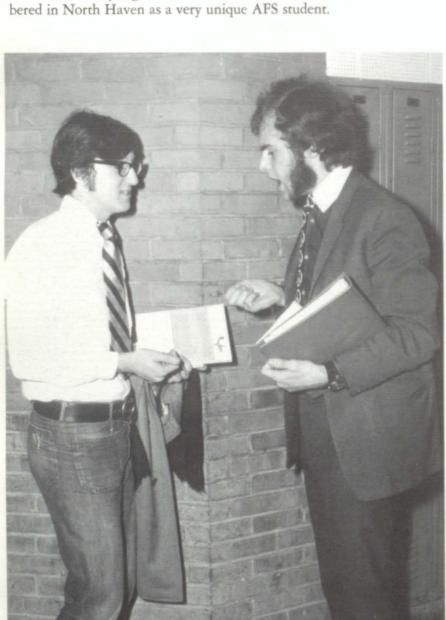

My friends — whoever read this — have my prayer that God will bless us all to survive and live happily in this too troublesome, unstable world.

PAUL TUCKER

Paul Tucker, coming from Great Britain and a culture so very similar to ours, had no trouble fitting right into the mood, atmosphere and pace of North Haven High School. As his many friends can testify, Paul has taken every opportunity to leave his British background behind him and experience the American way of life. He has become involved in many activities, in and out of school, and is taking full advantage of the new educational vistas open to him. He has done a lot of experimentation with the uses of the modular schedule, and has participated on the varsity Soccer team.

Paul has definite ideas on what he has seen in the U.S. — about the S.D.S., the anti-war movement, and nearly every aspect of his life here. Having proved himself an always-interesting person, even if you are not able to always agree with his views, Paul will doubtless be remembered in North Haven as a very unique AFS student.

DIALOG

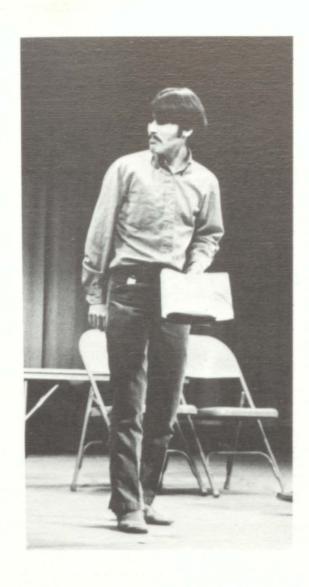

Dialog is a radical change from the previous student newspaper, the Torch. It is involved in the school, and the world, and the problems of those areas. The bland high-school reporting has given way to an impatient, meaningful content, on such issues as Number Nine, the uses of modular scheduling, and birth control. Dialog has grown up into a genuine newspaper and deserves the support of the entire school community. It is trying to present the students views of controversial subjects, to goad the student body into thinking, to help the communication between students, faculty and administrators. This year it is bought to be read and not as a favor to your friend the editor. Dialog has become an interesting and informative part of the school community, and the community at large.

LATIN CLUB

Latin Club is very unlike the other language clubs in the school in that it includes all students who are taking Latin. After a year or so of dreaming, the trip to Rome has finally come off, for the April vacation. Last year's ill-fated trip to Boston also was resurrected, to view the superb collection of Roman artifacts at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. Under the guidance of Miss Casper, the club has tried to broaden its scope so more students may participate through their classes rather than on an after-school basis.

LIBRARY CLUB

The Library Club is a service organization whose members assist in all regular library routines such as checking and shelving books, giving reference assistance, checking passes and arranging displays. Their assistance is greatly appreciated by the staff and the students.

Speak-out is a group dealing with civic and school affairs. Some of its activities have been to help recruit black teachers for the schools, solve some of the racial problems within the school, and change the attitudes behind these problems by inviting Black speakers to talk to the club and sponsoring school activities such as the Monster Double Feature. Each year Speak-Out begins again to raise money to fund the Martin Luther King Scholarship Fund, established as a memorial in 1968, to be awarded to a Black senior on Awards Night.

PEACE (Mr. and Mrs. Jaffe, Mrs. Ritch, Mr. Briggs, chaperones at the prom).

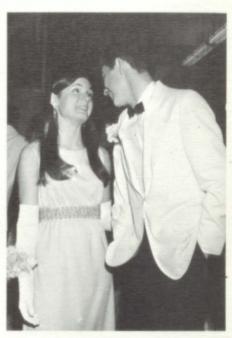

Anticipating the after-prom party.

The evening began at 9:00 in the East Campus gym. The Highlights provided the music. Dancing and communication were an asset to the evening. The Court (above) was chosen and the prom ended at 12:00. The guests proceeded to the After prom at Amerantes in Morris Cove. The Tri Power provided the music for a short time then left. At 4:00 the evening ended and began a new day at the beach.

Silence is Golden.

Beth Kennedy and her escort Lou DeMartino.

Sue LaRoque and her escort Clem Champagne.

Kathy Griffin and her escort Joe Minieri.

Bob Paiva and Kathy Griffin help count the votes.

Hey Rog, Here comes your mother.

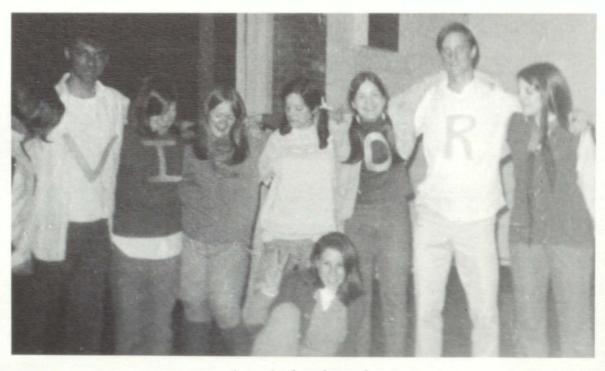

Joanne Connors and her escort Roger Wing.

The football team is introduced at the pep rally on Oct. 19.

So this is what they call a pep rally.

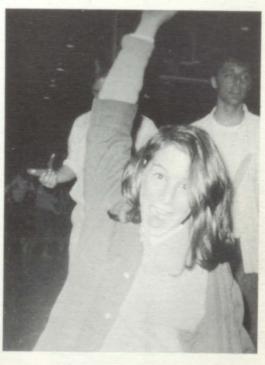

A sample of our dress code.

I'll never tell.

Now a word from our sponsor.

You mean it's finally over.

Kathy Griffin and Carol Mercuri prepare the yellow jacket for its sacrifice.

You mean they finally burned that pile of garbage out in the field.

Oh Wow, I get to light the fire.

Who said we all dance apart.

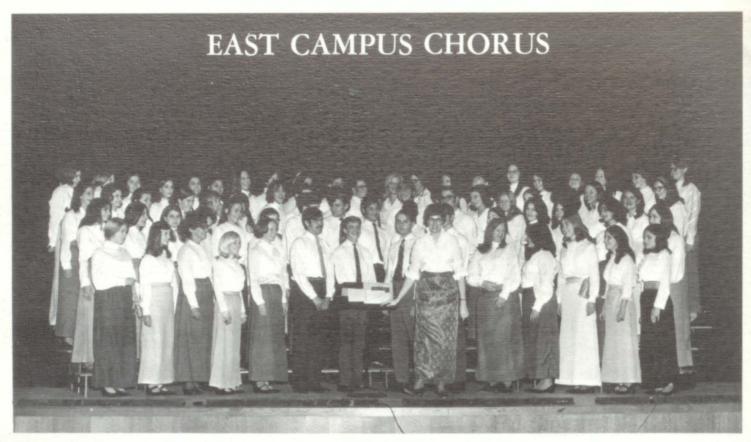

Well it's a good start in getting rid of the school.

Take that you darn guppy!

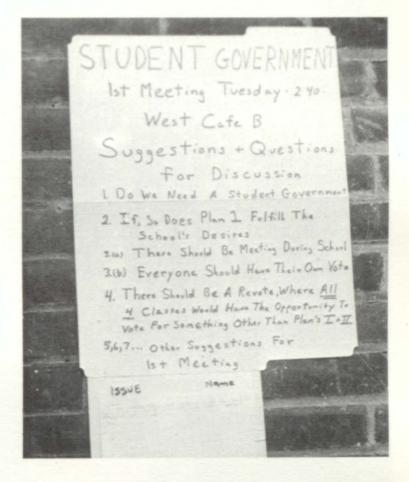

What's that stuff you're kneeling in . . . this is a cow pasture, you know!

You have been chosen runner-up in the Kate Smith lookalike contest.

Help! I can't get the earphones off!

No, I'm not going to Boise Tech. just to be the potato queen!

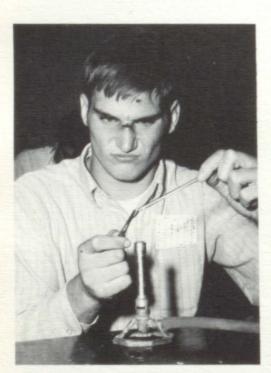

Homerooms will be extended this morning due to a late bus . . .

In beloved memory of the student who met her fate at the 8th mod rush.

Mmmmm . . . this smells almost as good as our locker room!

My girdle is killing me!

Poor Mike! Broiled for three hours!

Our photographer John just doesn't know where his head's at.

What's another word for usurpation?

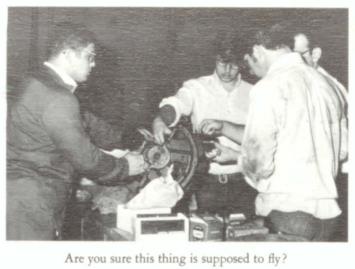

Hey, quick! There's two empty chairs!

Wish I had a ruler . . .

The soup of the day will be . . .

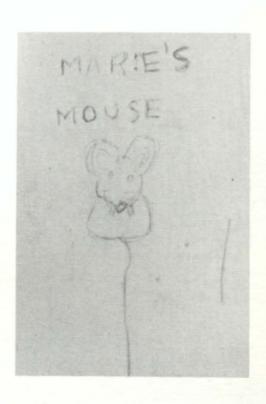

Watch out!! I have Ingi fever!!

Be prepared!

How are you supposed to play these blasted things?

Not to mention our sanitary lab facilities.

Now if I only had a ball!

Here it is, complete with a life insurance policy.

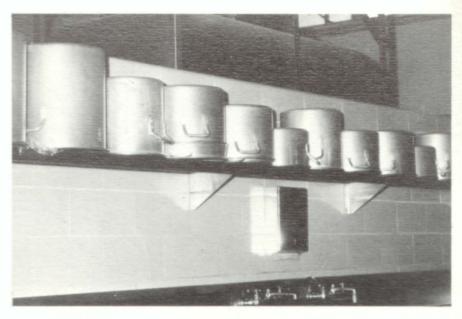

Sure those green things in the oatmeal aren't bugs?

C-could . . . I . . . h-have a p-pass to the l-l-lav?

If but anything their neat.

So this is where Mr. Antonelli has been since our first snowfall.

Betcha my eyelashes are longer than yours.

After 4 years of this place we have to keep our heads in tact someway.

So that's what happen to the cooking sherry!

Where did you say the chart was???

Our group had 46% fewer cavities.

Is that the one on Maple Avenue?

Excedrin Headache 314.

Shut Up Watson! Can't you see I'm busy.

1970 CLASS OFFICERS

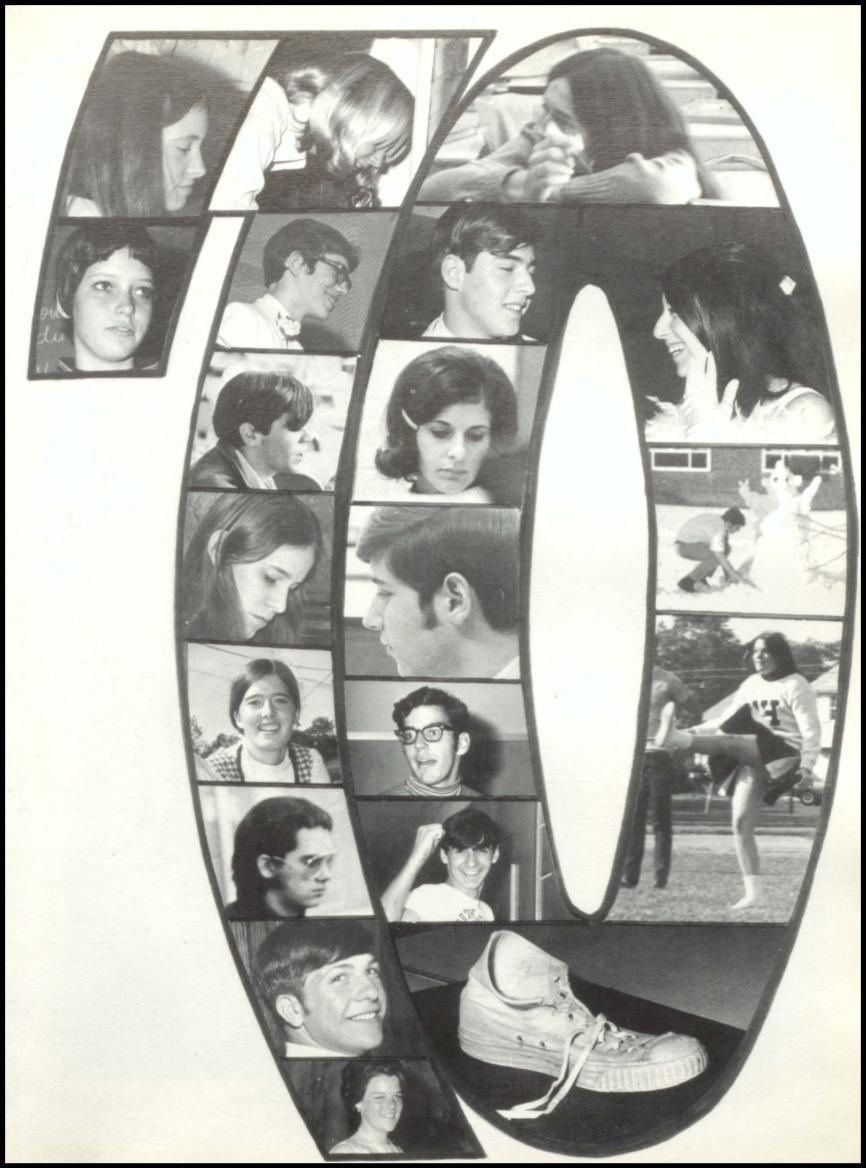

Officers — President, Gary Meyers; Vice-President, Paul Angeloni: Secretary, Toni Esposito; Treasurer, Roger Gadwah.

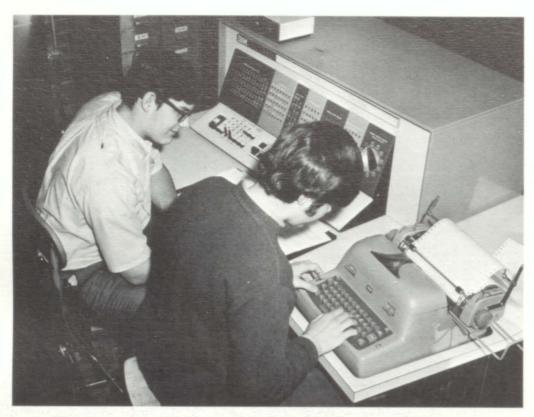

Advisor, Mr. Robbins

Advisor, Miss Satterlee

We have seen many changes since the year we entered North Haven High. One change, of course, is the modular system. Because of this new type of schedule many additions have been made to enhance the educational facilities. These include . . .

an IBM 1620 computer and a Busicom adding machine.

Changes have also taken place in styles since we were freshman. Remember the good (?) old days when girls wore skirts down to their knees, and boys couldn't wear jeans to school?

Things have changed since then. Our new dress code enables us to wear anything "reasonable."

Girls can wear pants to school.

boy's hair can be any length.

and anything goes . . .

CLASS WILL

- I, Jim Abeltin, leave the pig legacy in hopes that little pig will uphold it.
- I, Elizabeth Bacon, leave everything there is to be left.
- I, Sandra Baptie, leave in a rush.
- I, Jeff Barske, leave by dashing red hair to Mr. Dean, my fond memories of the Fantastic Four, and especially my mommy.
- I, Billy Bartlett, leave N.H.H.S. thoroughly confused.
- I, Cindy Blace, leave #30 to anyone lucky enough to wear it and all the great times to Jane.
- I, Bonnie Buick, leave my torn cartilage to anyone who dislikes gym.
- I, Fran Cafiero, leave to my brother one more delightful year.
- I, Cynthia Carafa, leave one small chair to any other little person who would like their feet to touch the floor.
- We, Cathy, Chucky, Sandi, Virginia, and Wanda, leave our cafeteria table.
- I, Janet Cerino, leave typewriter #15 to the next senior with hopes that he or she will have better luck with it.
- Cynthia Chapman, leave with wonderful memories of the two from Milford.
- I, Donna Cole, leave my uniform to "tanker" and my growl to kergan.
- I, Marie D'Arrigo, leave this at the mercy of Liz D'Arrigo, class of '73.
- I, Mary Ann Dauria, leave Mr. Burrill's class with hopes never to return.
- I, Ellen Delehant, leave my rebounding to Pigeon and my duck to Mickey Mouse.
- I, Fred DellaValle, leave my funny jokes and gymsuit to anyone who wants them. Good Luck.

- I, Denise Diglio, leave with the "gang" and leave Mr. Jaffe behind.
- We, Dolores and Gloria, leave this school gladly.
- I, Marilynn Dudley, leave to next year's pep club president the privilege of paying to get into the games.
- Toni Esposito, leave Mr. Keough one deep ditch so he can talk to me on my level.
- I, Tom Farquahar, leave my "finished" math homework assignments to Mr. Rickart.
- Patty Fenton, leave my dirty T-shirt to the field hockey team and Mickey Mouse.
- I, Adele Ferraro, leave one more glorious year to Robyn and Joanne.
- We, Fran, Bonnie, and Cindy, leave the endless corridors to Room 320, to the next years SACHEM staff in hopes that they will reach the room before 8:00 o'clock each morning.
- I, Kenneth Glick, leave all those troubled high school years behind me.
- We, the Glory Stompers, leave our reputation to anyone who thinks they can live up to it.
- I, Margaret Goode, leave to anyone who wants it . . . my blushing ability.
- I, Alice Gould, leave my sister Ruthie to the teachers. Good Luck.
- I, John Gray, leave to my "little" brother my basketball sneakers.
- I, Barb Garyeb, leave my locker to anyone who can open it.
- I, Kathy Griffin, leave Barb my secrets, Diane my comb, Carol my bubble gum, and Dauria my bib.
- I, Becky Grunt, leave the privilege to bake cookies for the soccer team, to anyone who desires to.
- We, Kathy, Kathy, Jane, Carol, Donna, Karen, and Betty, leave M.M. to next year's cheerleaders, Good Luck.

CLASS WILL

(worth 10 Imps) We, Pat, Barb, Reggie, Joan, Mary, and Lynne, leave the cafe. I, Jan Kowaleski, leave this school tired. I, John Rapuano, leave North Haven High with great joy. I, Susan LaRogue, leave with pleasure.

I, Alan Riggs, leave all of Mr. Wheeler's clutch adjustments to a long armed junior.

I, Sally-Jo Leibiger, leave this hassle to the DeRusso's and the Leibigers.

A mere acknowledgment is, we feel, an inadequate method of expressing gratitude. It is impossible to extend sufficient thanks for the months of genuine interest and countless hours of dedicated work required to prepare a yearbook for printing. Without the aid of numerous people, such preparation would have been an impossible task. Therefore, it is most fitting to express our deepest appreciation to all who have contributed, in any way, to the final publication of the 1970 SACHEM:

Mr. Anthony Antonelli: who has devoted himself completely to the long and tedious tasks involving the successful production of this book; without his guidance and patience this undertaking would have been impossible. Throughout the year he has worked organizing the details of various activities and overseeing the management of our finances. Both his suggestions and advice have helped bring us to the successful completion of this year's SACHEM.

T. O'Toole and Sons: for their fine publishing and Mr. Jack Brown who had patiently waited for and personally attended to, the needs of SACHEM.

Jay Storm Studio — and especially John Petrullis and Ron Livieri: for their fine photographs in the Senior Section and personal attention to every request.

Business Department: for the continual use of their typewriters and duplication machines.

Office Secretaries of both campuses: for the use of the class rosters, locating students, and typing announcements.

Custodians and IA Department: for continually unlocking room 320.

Larry Asbell, Sam Dochnevich, Tom Frei, and Jeff Price: for the use of their their photographs in both the opening and closing sections.

All the SACHEM parents: for their moral support and understanding of the late nights after school, absence from dinner and especially to the mothers for keeping our meals warm.

The Staff of the 1970 SACHEM: for their effort, interest and spirit in the piecing together of this yearbook.

The Advertisers: for their greatly needed aid.

And finally, the Administration, Faculty and entire student body of North Haven High School for their interest, cooperation and continued support of SACHEM.

Again, our sincere thanks to all who made our work easier and more enjoyable. We have passed through a delicate phase of our life. We have watched old dreams pass away and with a thirsting for new hope we have begun to reach forward. We have spoken and we have listened. We have learned to link ourselves with people in feeling and relationship. The life we have begun to create will be inherited by a nameless child not yet conceived. We must unite in both our laughter and fear so that our world may touch this child.

P.N.F.'S

I drove in a blizzard . . . Let's go to the Enormous Room last night . . . Let's do something . . . Our room is locked — where do ya wanta go . . . We need a master key . . . I thought she was a tolerant rational but she's an intolerant irrational . . . Every fifteen minutes we turn around and its an hour later . . . BIZARRE . . . Don't talk to me I've got to get some work done this mod . . . Please don't play A-11 . . . I know its only 10:40 but my stomach says its lunch time . . . If you guys don't gain some weight I'll never get thin . . . Wouldn't it be funny if this were the stage door . . . I feel bad . . . Nancy hasn't started her term paper yet and its due last Friday . . . Just look like you know what you're doing . . . I wanta run away . . . Let's go carolling . . . There are 299,999,999,998 irrational people in the world, according to my statistics . . . She can't come carolling, she's going to a hockey game . . . She's so sensitive and deeply moved that she just walked into a locker . . . How can so many otherwise intelligent people be taken in by that wooden, psuedo-intellectual, psuedo-liberal, psuedo-hippy, psuedo-human being? . . . Haylo Nahncy, haylo Frahnsus . . . Where's the math resource center? . . . I wanna go home . . . Hey, Rog, do a wheelie over the fence . . . Ooowoohowooo . . . Three maladroits sat on a fence — and fell off . . . One of these days I'm gonna say "ILY Goose" to you, Pam, and I'll be so embarrassed . . . Bury my head in Roger's stomach . . . Bye. Have a nice trip.
