desiderata,

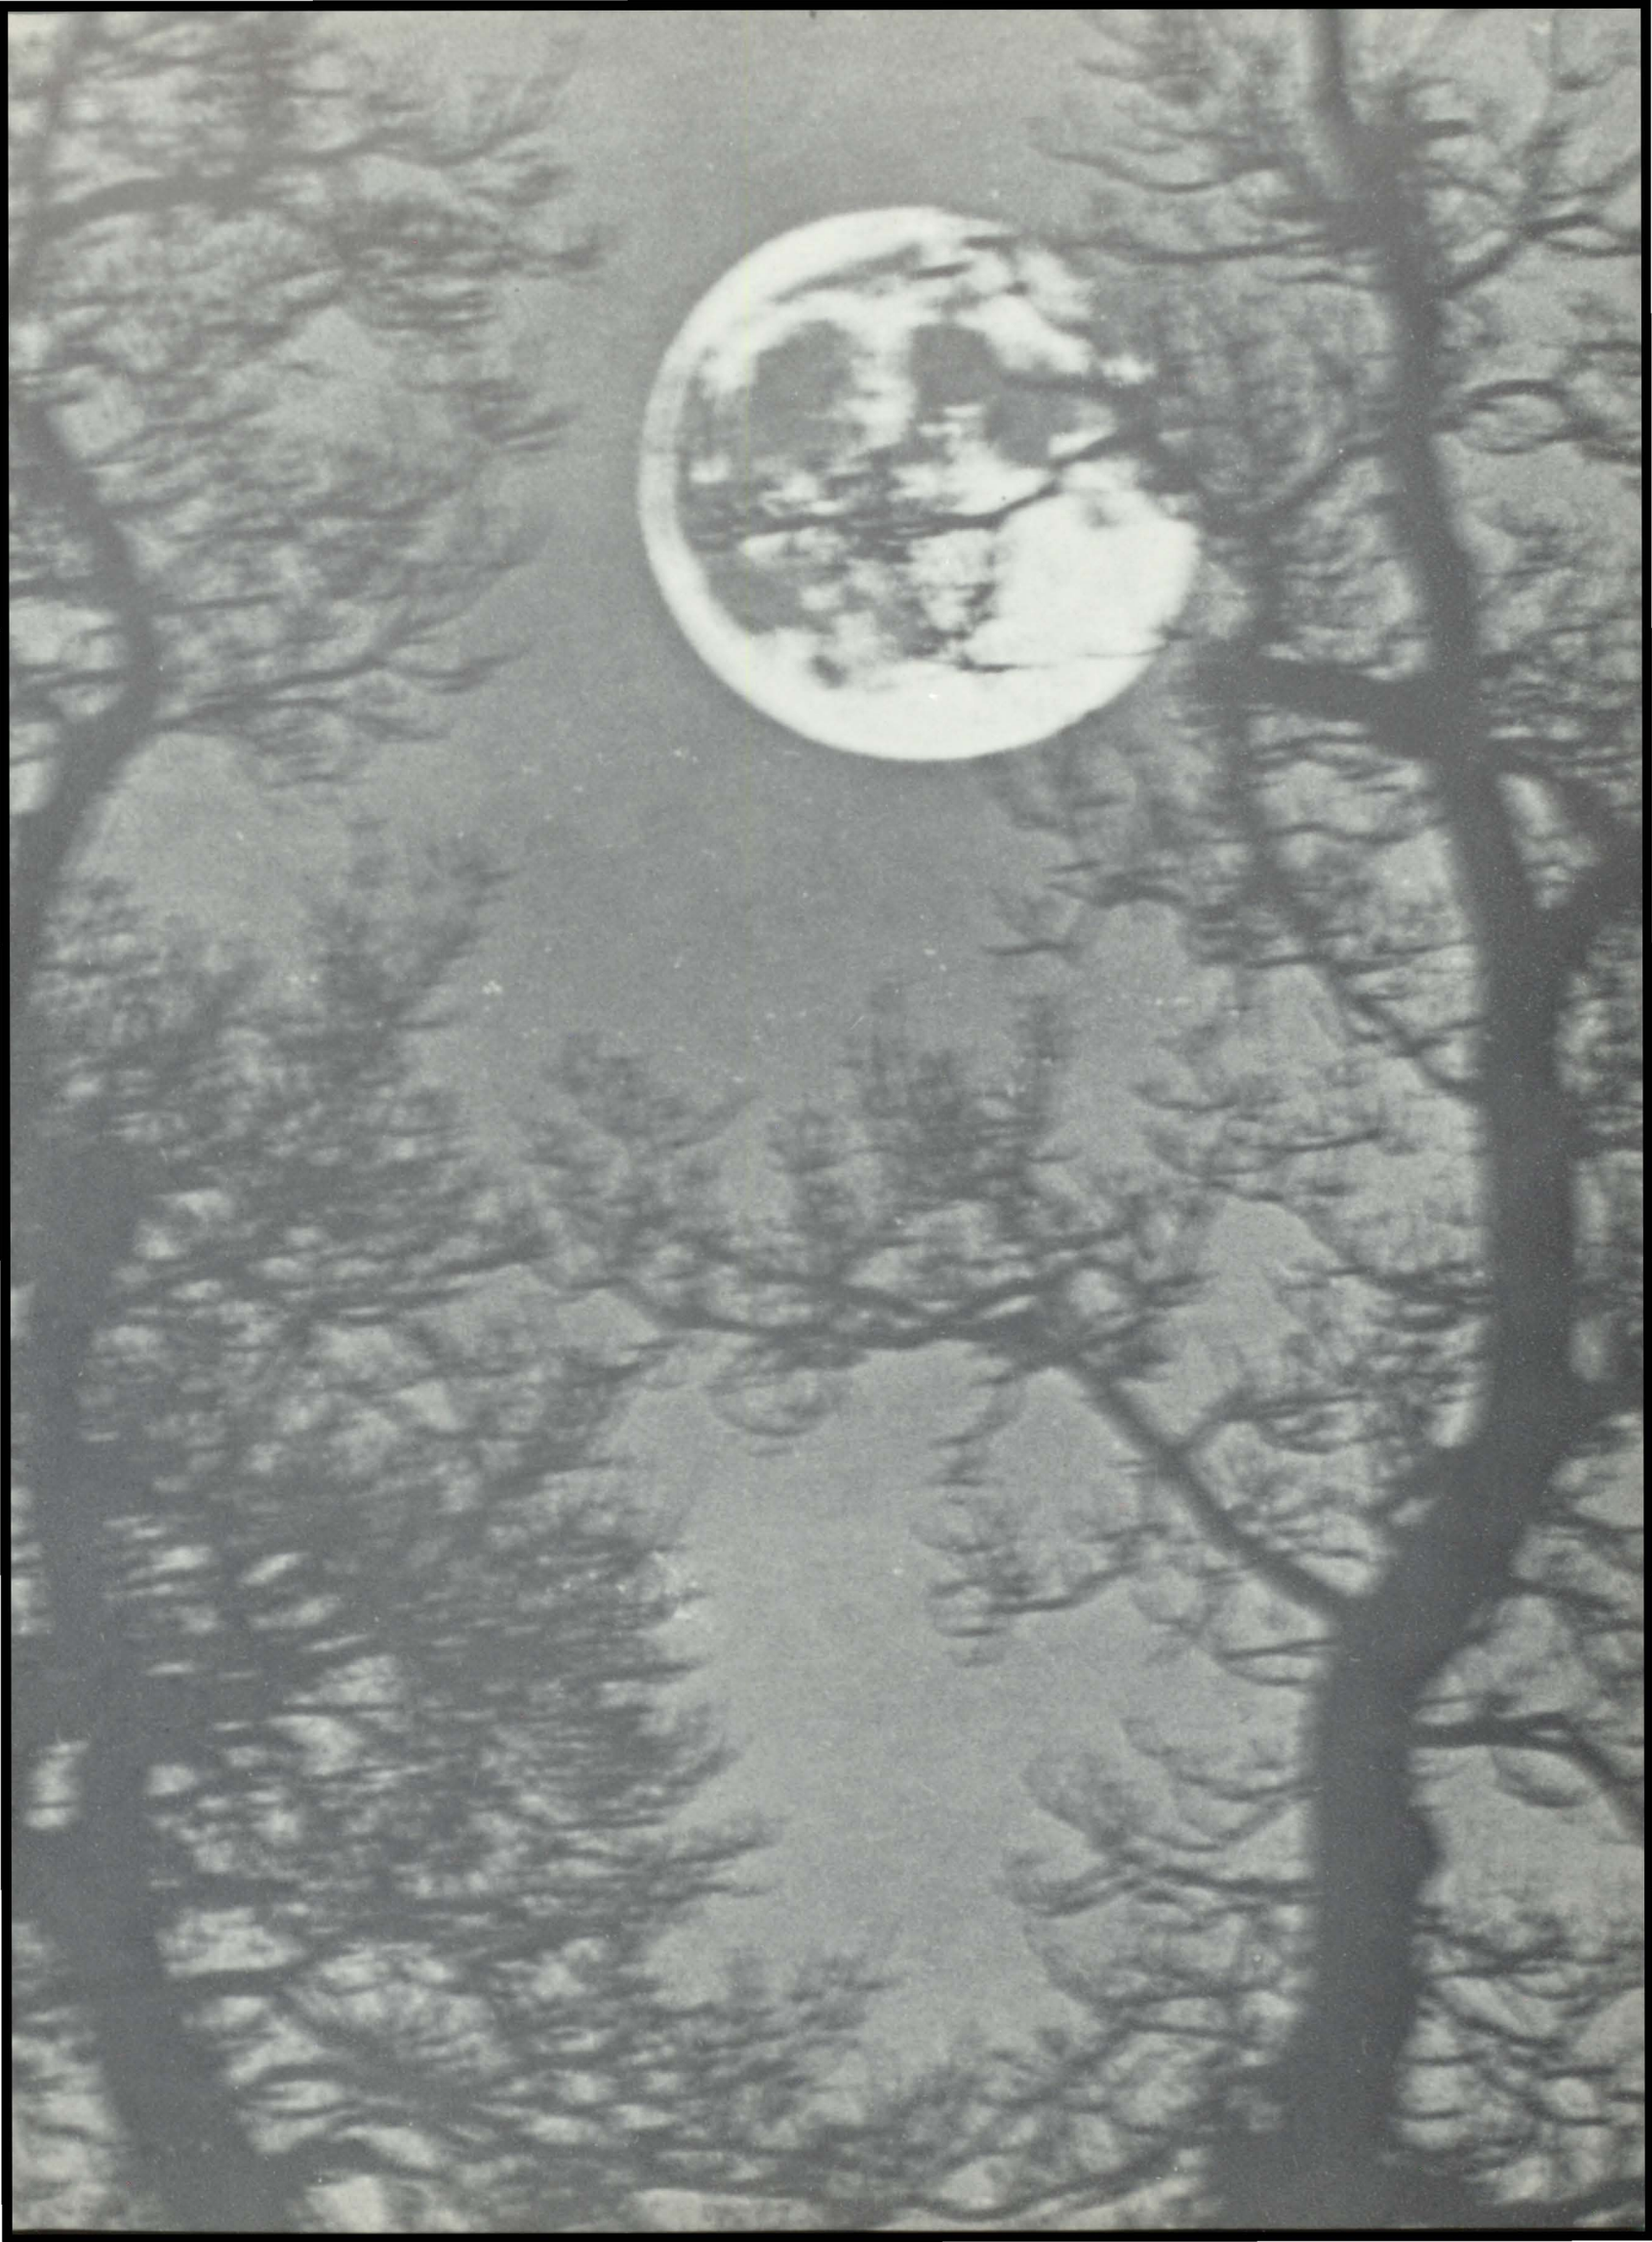

the desire

to achieve one's goal

*You are a child
of the universe,*

no less than the trees & the stars;

you have a right to be here.

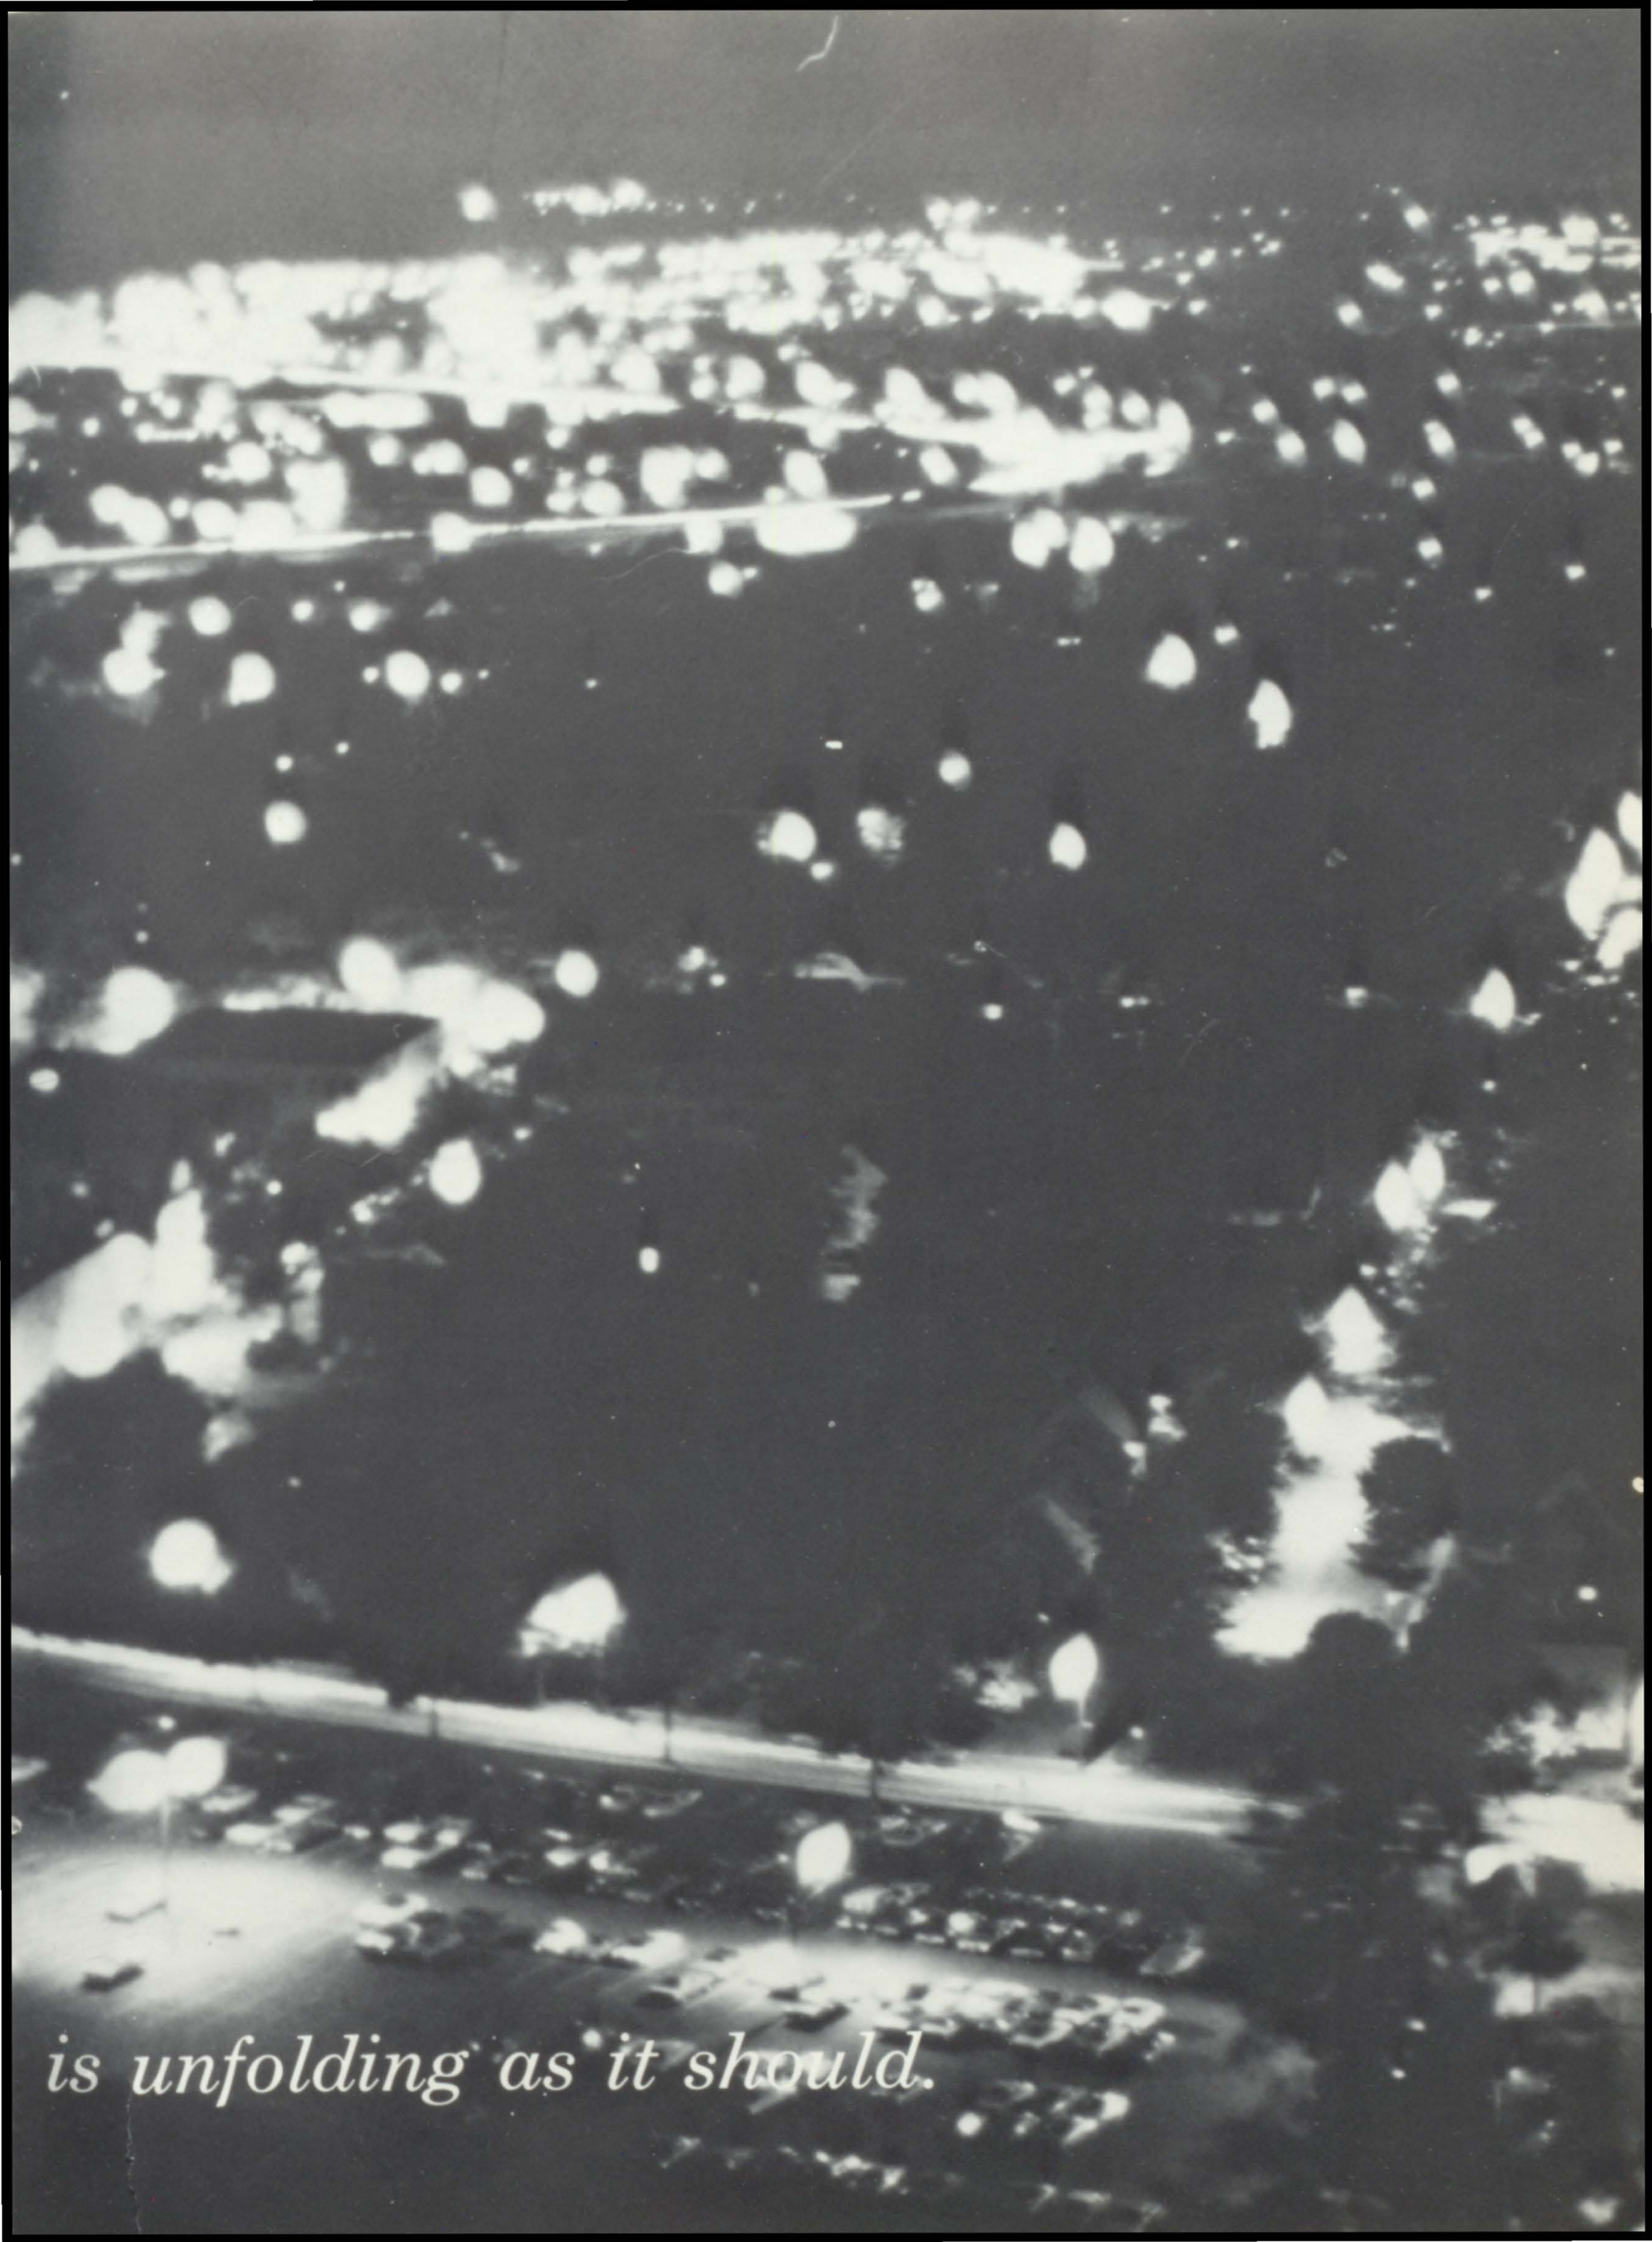

And whether or not

it is clear to you,

no doubt the universe

is unfolding as it should.

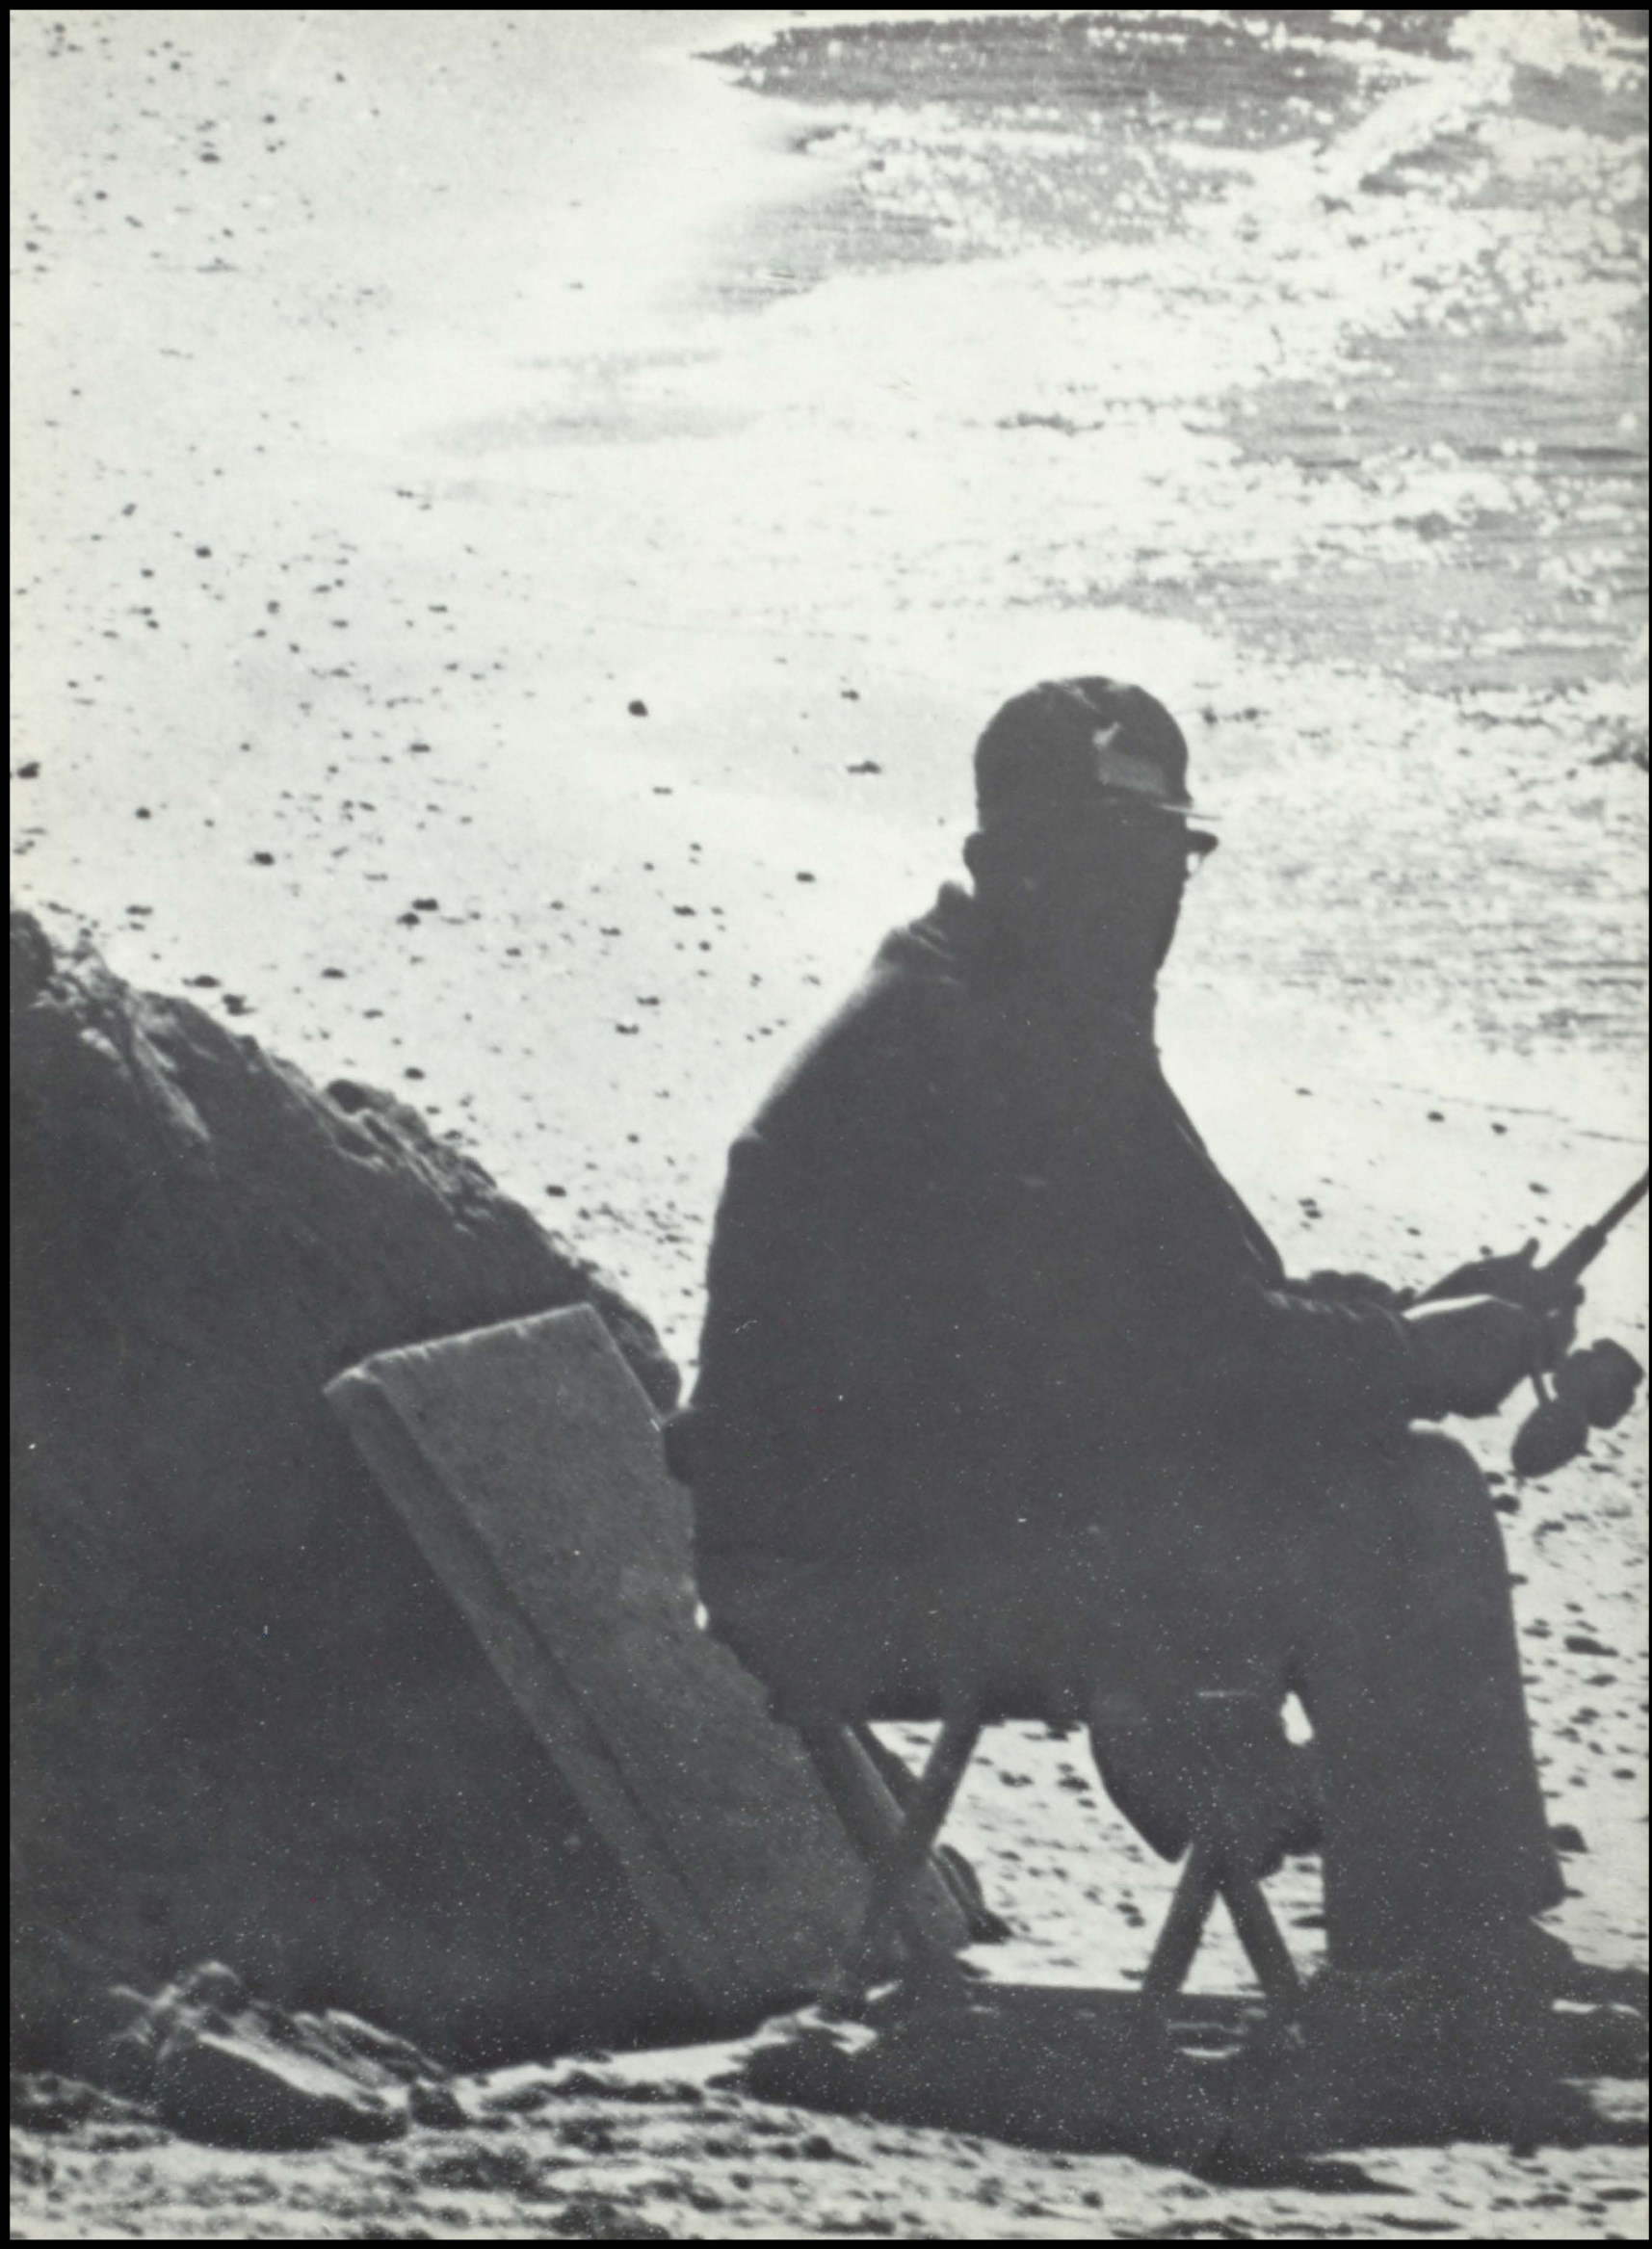

with all its

sham,

drudgery,

and broken dreams,

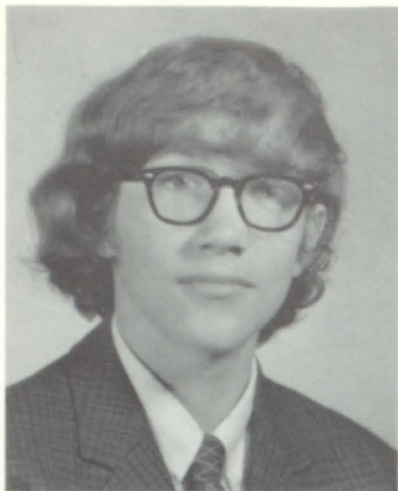

*It is still a beautiful world.
Strive to be happy.*

Take me to the sea, or take me to the mountain, or to the meadow that lies beyond the city. If we arrive at a town, where lights are dazzling and faces dancing with slight fear I shall paint a thousand faces, each lit brightly in its image. And if we part, wherefore you may go to the lights and faces, and I to the wilderness, promise to bring me your tales, and I to you shall bring, some dried flowers of wisdom. O gifts of the trail. Our paths shall cross many time.

"All of my life I've waited for this year to come and now that it's here I kind of hate to see it go. We all will go our own way in the new world ahead to seek the best of what life has to offer. The last twelve years were only preparation for everyday situations and problems in the future even though you will never really know it when you apply what you've learned. Now it is different, now it has to be right. Be careful, some mistakes can never be changed and they may be the worst. Strive for success and happiness always and when things look dim remember the good times and everything will be just that much brighter and that much easier to bear."

"People change, time moves on. Every midnight gives itself to dawn; when you left, I didn't think it strange, after all people change. People change, so it goes, comes the fall, the cold wind blows. Give your love, get heartbreak in exchange; after all people change. You know as well as I, with just the same old sky, a bird gets mighty restless and has to fly. People change, now you're back, if there's something my smile seems to lack; I don't love you now, but if you think it strange -

People change."
